In these challenging times, we recognize that COVID-19 is creating significant impact on your business. As your partner and trusted advisor, we at Lockton Affinity are here to help.

If you are making adjustments to the ways you are serving your customers, you may question whether you have the right coverage in place to accommodate these changes. We can help you evaluate this based on potential new risks you may face.

You may also be questioning if the coverage you have in place could be triggered by the pandemic. Although we, as your insurance broker, must look to the insurance carriers as the ultimate authority in determining coverage for claims, we will provide broad guidance on policy language and advise you on reporting any COVID-19 suspected losses per the claim reporting instructions of your policy.

If you have these questions or others, we encourage you to contact your Account Manager for tailored guidance.

In addition, here are some resources we believe you will find valuable:

- Coronavirus Insurance Coverage and Claims Guidance
- Coronavirus Employer Guide

- Coronavirus FAQs for U.S. Employees

For more information, you can also visit Lockton's specialized Resource Center which will continue to be updated.

We truly value your business and are here to help in this time of uncertainty. Please stay safe and be well.
